

Accommodation

Houses

It just doesn't get any better.

Mainja

At the west end of our beach sits a grand house with views across the lake towards Mozambique, Malawi and back towards the main lodge. Mainja is the bees knees. Opening into a large bed area with views straight across the lake over your own infinity pool. Archways to each side of the bed lead on to a huge double ended bath on one side or a sitting room on the other, sun loungers and a dining table are out on your deck next to the pool. (double) Dare you?

Madimba

Just on from Mainja House lies Madimba House. Madimba is a two bedroomed house, both rooms are ensuite. Between the two rooms is a beautiful Tanzanian Style sitting area with a log fire place and fridge full of cold drinks. Out to the front a private plunge pool right at the lakeshore nestled into the rocks. Madimba is ideal for a family, two couples holidaying together or as a twin room (with a single supplement) (double + twin)Speechless?

Ndomo Point

15 minutes walk from Kaya Mawa is Ndomo Point House. On its own private beach, with views over the neighbouring island of Chizimulu towards mainland Malawi. Opening in June 2010 this luxury villa has four bedrooms, three ensuite, kitchen, sitting room, four terraces and an infinity pool onto the beach. Fully staffed it benefits from all the facilities of Kaya Mawa yet is completely private. (3 doubles 1 twin) It doesn't get better!

Premium Rooms

Just a little more!

Nkwhazi

On top of a rocky knoll at the east end of our main beach with stunning views out to Nkwhazi Island and then to the south of the Lake. At the front of the room are three private decks and an infinity pool. (double) Enough said.

Mbamba

Also on top of a rocky knoll, with 360 degree views. Out to one side of the room is a large deck with a plunge pool and lounging area. On the other side an intimate dining area. Inside a large bed and snug area. (double) How chilled?

Makengulu

Want your own island? On a small rocky island accessible across a wooden walkway and partly hidden by Bougainvillea is Makengulu. Leading through the room out on to a private terrace and then a wooden deck right over the lake. The walkway from the deck takes you further out over the lake and access via a ladder into the water.(double) Fancy a dip?

Family Houses

Go mad on the beach..

Ulissa

The first family house set at the back of the beach. A spacious two roomed house with an interconnecting bathroom. The main room is set towards the front of the house with a double bed looking down across the beach to the water, the second room has three beds, one of them hung from the roof! Outside under the shade is a comfy sofa area and dining area. Both leading out on to an expansive deck. (double + triple) Sand between the toes.

Yofu

The second family house is nestled into the back of the beach hidden behind a mango tree. Leading off from a large wooden deck with two 'boat sofas' the main bedroom has half of an enormous dug out canoe as a headboard and leads into the shared bathroom, which has a bath on the second floor making the most of the views out to the lake. The 'kids' room is decked out in beach style with a hammock strung in the corner. (double +twin) Don't hit your head on a mango

Standard Rooms.

There really is nothing standard about them.

Khuyu

Where the knoll meets the beach on the west side of the knoll. The closest room to the bar and restaurant ideally suited for the less agile. (can be a double or twin)

Ngani

Set into the rocks on our second beach with views out to Mozambique. In front of the chalet is a small rock island which teams with water birds throughout the year. The Kacheri tree under which the chalet is built houses a colony of weaver birds for some of the year. Ngani has a private deck with a ladder leading directly into the lake a sitting area to the front and a 'galley' style bathroom. (double)

Mbungu

On the west side of the rocky knoll Mbungu commands views along the beach and across to Chizimulu. Below the chalet and down a stone stairway is a private deck over the water. (double or twin)

Msekwa

On the western tip of the knoll Msekwa is special. A favourite to many. Entering through an arched door you arrive at the top of some steep steps. The loo is here. As you go down the steps there is an outside shower and then a bath under the corner of a huge boulder. Reach the bottom of the steps and there is a sofa area leading out on to a deck over the lake and the entrance to the room. From the front of the room walk out onto private jetty and access into the lake. Be warned this room is suitable for the more agile guest. (double)
